Architecture aficionados will marvel at the estate's exceptional Georgian architecture. The main house, a masterpiece of its time, boasts elegant proportions, intricate details, and a symmetrical facade that exudes grandeur. The estate's outbuildings, including the stables, coach house, and walled gardens, complement the main house perfectly, creating a harmonious ensemble that transports visitors back in time.

A Vision for Revival

Time, however, had taken its toll on Newton Folly Cottingham. Decades of neglect and underinvestment had left the estate in a state of disrepair. The once-magnificent house had fallen into ruin, its walls crumbling and its gardens overgrown. The estate's future seemed uncertain, its rich heritage at risk of being lost forever.

Thankfully, a group of passionate individuals recognized the immense value of Newton Folly Cottingham. They formed a charitable trust, dedicated to the preservation and revitalization of the estate. With a clear vision and unwavering determination, they embarked on an ambitious project to restore Newton Folly Cottingham to its former glory.
