The Mullet

The mullet is perhaps the most iconic 80s hairstyle. It's characterized by short hair on the top and sides, and long hair in the back. Mullets were popular among both men and women, and they were often styled with a lot of teasing and hairspray.

To create a mullet, start by cutting the hair on the top and sides to a short length. Then, grow out the hair in the back and style it with a lot of teasing and hairspray. You can also add some highlights or lowlights to give your mullet a more modern look.

The Perm

The perm was another popular 80s hairstyle. It's characterized by curly or wavy hair that's been chemically treated. Perms were popular among both men and women, and they were often styled with a lot of volume and bounce.

To create a perm, you'll need to go to a salon and have your hair treated with a chemical solution. The solution will break down the bonds in your hair, allowing it to be curled or waved. Once your hair has been permed, you can style it with a variety of products to achieve the desired look.

The Pixie Cut

The pixie cut is a short, layered haircut that's often worn by women. It's characterized by short hair on the sides and back, and longer hair on the top. Pixie cuts were popular in the 80s among both women and men, and they were often styled with a lot of volume and texture.

To create a pixie cut, start by cutting the hair on the sides and back to a short length. Then, layer the hair on the top to create volume and texture. You can also add some highlights or lowlights to give your pixie cut a more modern look.

The Flock of Seagulls

The Flock of Seagulls is a type of haircut that was popular in the 80s among men. It's characterized by short, spiky hair on the top, and longer hair on the sides and back. Flock of Seagulls haircuts were often styled with a lot of gel or mousse, and they were often worn with a headband or bandana.

To create a Flock of Seagulls haircut, start by cutting the hair on the top to a short length. Then, spike the hair up with a gel or mousse. You can also add some longer hair on the sides and back, and style it with a headband or bandana.
